Internet Safety

"Street Smarts for the Information Highway"

America's Digital Defender offers timely tips and strategies for protecting youngsters from Internet predators and online dangers.

Using true stories and examples from his 10+ years experience as a technologist and network security specialist, he gives powerful insights into keeping kids and families safe online.

Mike Lattimore is a cybersecurity guru for one of the worlds largest utility companies. Over the past 10 years he has learned the secrets of internet safety techniques while protecting corporate networks from the exploits of thousands of hackers! He brings this insider information to youth and shares with them how to stay safe while online.
