Mike Lattimore, of Altadena, CA, also known as America's Digital Defender, is featured in the newly released volume 4 of Mission Possible!, alongside nationally known personalities such as Bruce Jenner (Olympic Gold Medalist), Jack Canfield (creator and co-founder of Chicken Soup for the Soul®), Brian Tracy (world renown Success authority), and Tom Hopkins (Sales legend). This exciting series captures the insights, strategies, and inspiration of mission-minded people and features the transcribed interviews of well-known celebrities as well as other professionals who have dynamic messages of their own.

Rapidly gaining national acclaim as America's Digital Defender, Mike Lattimore is rapidly becoming one of the most sought after technology speakers in America. His colorful and diverse background includes community technology advocacy, game show casting, direct marketing, computer security and twenty years of entrepreneurship. Mike is a speaker who has experienced many lifestyles in one lifetime. His recent audiences include the National Urban League, International Association of Administrative Professionals and the Southern California Edison Corporation. A member of the International Speakers Network and the National Speakers Association, he is also a licensed spiritual practitioner. Mike is a speaker who loves computers and technology "almost as much" as he loves people and his authentic and fun-loving style not only challenges people to transformation, but motivates them to WANT it!

Lattimore is one of twelve contributors featured in Mission Possible! Volume Four, published by Insight Publishing of Sevierville, TN. The Mission Possible! books begin as 30-minute talk radio programs aired on select stations in the South and Northeast.
